Reasons for the discnarge of ten inspectors, seven clerks and one driver from the force of employes in the Department of Health were filed with City Clerk McNamara yesterday. The reason given is the reduced appropriation after January 1. For 1880, the appropriation was about $50,000. For 1881 the amount, aside from the ambulance service, is $18,000. Of thus, $11,000 is required for the salaries of Commissioner Crane, Sanitary Superintendent Raymond, Secretary La Fetra and Registrar of Vital Statistics Wyckoff.

SQUANDERING THE ASSETS.

TROUBLES OF A BROOKLYN COMPANY. REMARKABLE FINANCIERING OF W. FONTAINE BRUFF AND MR. FLOYD-JONES-HOW THE STOCK AND

BONDS DISAPPEARED. The decision of Judge Cooke on Saturday in egard to the Brooklyn Elevated Ratiroad Company, vacating the receivership of Messrs. Phelps and Wagstaff, and severely blaming W. Fontaine Bruff, the president, and Robert B. Floyd-Jones, the contractor, has attracted much attention. A TRIBUNE reporter visited the office of the company, at No. 31 Fulton-st., yesterday, but found no one except a clerk, who declared his ignorance of all subjects connected with the company. Mr. Bruif left his house, No. 834 Lexington ave., some time are. He is understood to have been staying at the Astor House up to about a week ago, and was seen in the lobby there on Saturday. Yesterday he could not be found.

Alfred Wogstaff said in answer to inquiries: "I was appointed receiver without my request or knowledge in the case of Keeler against Bruff and his co-directors. I knew no one connected with the road, and only saw Braff once when he came down to my office and wanted an investigation, which was not a part of the receivers' duties. We were appointed to go on and build the road.

I was satisfied in my own mind of bad management.

It was not our business, however, to examine Mr. Bruff.'
Mr. Deyo, counsel for Mr. Floyd-Jones, said: "Mr Floyd-Jones's contract was assigned to Mr. Bruff for the protection of certain interests, and not for Mr. Bruff for the benefit. Something has been said in regard to more benefit, something has been said in regard to money supposed to have been wrongfully invested in mines. The money that Mr. Floyd-Jones got was in payment for work done on the superstructure, etc., of the road, and was his own to spend as he pleased. He is ready and anxious to go on with the work, but he wants to know whom he is to deal with. He has been continually ham pered by injunctions and law proceedings."

It is asserted that Mr. Floyd-Jones's relations with Schafer Brothers, who advanced money and received a large bonus, are not friendly. It is claimed by persons interested in the suit that Samuel Schafer, who, it is alleged in affidavits, was to receive a private percentage in addition to the bonus, has been endeavoring to get possession of the contract for building the road.

H. H. Morse, one of the counsel for the receivers, said: "My connection with the road began with the appointment of Mr. Puelps as receiver, October 12, 1880. Since as counsel for both receivers. The capital stock of the company was $5,000,000; the funded debt was $3,500,000. The company has made a contract with Mr. Floyd-Jones to build and equip the road and furnish everything necessary. For doing this he was to have the entire capital stock of $5,000,000, and $3,500,000 in bonds. Whatever transfers of stock and bonds were made appear to have been made in the first instance to Mr. Floyd-Jones under this contract, and to have been transferred to various persons for all kinds of considerations. Most of the stock appears to have been given away as bonuses. None of the bonds sold above 90, and sales were made as low as 37. I don't believe that the sales of the bonds and stock ever exceeded in cash $1,250,000. "The original contract was that Mr. Floyd-Jones should receive $500,000 in stock and $350,000 in bonds for every mile completed. According to the terms of this contract he could never have received a dollar, as not a mile of the road has been finished. He asked for a change in the terms of payment in order that he might receive funds as the work advanced. On February 10, 1880, the directors passed a resolution to pay him according to the following percentages:

room. In the centre of the hall was a beautiful floral temple occupied by Mrs. A. Oakey Hall and daughter, Mrs. Charles S. Spencer, Miss Skinner and Miss Guernsey. Among the persons present were Mayor Cooper, Jutge John R. Brady. Henry Bergh, Nathaniel Jarvis, jr., and Colonel Warner. The fair was under the direction of the Executive Committee of the regiment. Judge Brady addressed the gathering, and referred to the time when he was Judge-Advocate of the "old 38th." He mentioned several incident of his military life, and in conclusion introduced Mayor Cooper, who declared the fair open. The principal features of the fair are: A portrait of James Fisk, jr., composed of the 150 Psalms of David, in the original Hebrew; a diamond necklace, to be presented to the favorite brewer's wife; a doll, valued at $500; a sword, to be voted to the most popular officer in the First and Second Divisions, and a baton to the most popular bandmaster.

ASSAULT ON AN AGED WOMAN.

A MIDNIGHT ATTACK BY TWO MEN-THE SUPPOSED

CRIMINALS ARRESTED. Long Branch, Dec. 20 .- The small hamlet of Villa Park, near the famous summer resort Sprin Lake, was on last Thursday morning thrown into a state of great excitement. A cowardly assault had been committed, the night before, on Mrs. Koons, an elderly woman, who, with her niece, Mrs. Fairchild, has a boarding house at Villa Park. With them is a granddaughter of Mrs. Koons, age twelve.

On last Wednesday morning Mrs. Fairchild went to New-York, leaving Mrs. Koons and the granddaugnter alone. Shortly after 11 o'clock Wednesday night Mrs. Keens was startled from a sound sleep by some one knocking at the front door. To the demand who was there, a man replied, asking Mrs. Koons to give himself and a companion a room till moraing. The night being cold, Mrs. Koons hastily dressed herself and admitted the men. Having offered to show them to mitted the men. Having offered to show them to a room, they started to follow her, but as she reached the door one of them suddenly piaced his hand upon her mouth, while the other statched the lamp from her hand, and threw her to the floor. Making a great effort, Mrs. Koms succeeded in releasing herself from their grasp, and uttered several piereing screams. The screams were heard by a colored man named Frank Anderson, living in Anthony Comstock's cottage, next door. Hastily loading a gun, he ran to Mrs. Koons's assistance, and, upon enterior the house, found the men had fled by a back door. He discharged his gun after them, but failed to his either.

The neighbors found Mrs. Koons lying on the floor in an unconscious state. She was soon restored, and told the story of the assent. Two men, Joseph Brand and James Degan, have been arrested and locked in jail at Freehold, there being strong evidence against them.

DISEASES OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM.

The importance of the nervous system, its power over life, and the arrest bearing which it has on human happiness, is thoroughly reacquized; its ones and the danger of overtaxing it, whether through intense mental application or by the excessive induspence of the appetites and propensities, are proper subjects for consideration. When the nervous system is derauged, it is absolutely necessary to promptly seek advice from an expert who, for a long series of veurs, has deveoted his whole time and attention to this study, and who, from his experience and practice, has neurand to discover at once the cause and as promisily apply the remedy, thus avoiding the telephinity slow seeking for the truth so common to the inexperienced, and so annowing to the patient, who, very naturally, wants to know without delay what its the matter, the extent of the derangement, the probabilities of recuperation, and the time required.

If the brain has become exhausted by intense mental application, deriving it of the power of connected chought, it can only recover its strongth by being properly fed and nourished by the use of certain systematic methods, the same with the nerves that preside ever organic info. 822 TO $900 EACH,

XAVER SCHARWENKA, of Berlin, writes, son & Hamlin Organs are the most excellent Instruments that I know of. They are copable of giving the finest tone that I know of. They are capable of giving the finest tone coloring, and no other instrument so enraptures the player," and similar opinions have been expressed by many other celebrated musicians. Dr. FRANZ LISZT has characterized them as "matchless." "unrivalled." THEODORE THOMAS propounces them "the best instruments of the class made either in this country or Europe." ITALO CAMPANINI writes. "They excel all similar instruments of which I have any knowledge. But you have better proof of my opinion of your Organs than even this expression, in the fact that I have just surchased one to take with me to Italy." J. H. MA. of your Organs than even this expression, in the fact that I have just purchased one to take with me to Italy." J. H. MA-PLESON and LUIGI ARDITI, manager and conductor of Her Majesty's Italian Opera Company, say. "We have never seen an organ of this description which equaled your Liszs Organ in power, brilliancy and smoothness of tone."
